

The famed “Queen Of Disco” Donna Winter, who had hit after hit in the 1970’s but mysteriously dropped from public sight in 1980, has come to an intimate dinner party to return to the spotlight.

However, all is not as it seems, as conniving Amber Autumn is trying to achieve fame through remakes of Donna’s famous hits— with or without Donna’s permission!

This will bring down the ire of famed super agent, Gloria Goniff, who stands to make millions in commissions if Donna goes out on tour.

There are also conflicts with backup singer and struggling opening act Phillip “The Flipper” Flip, claiming that HE is the next Disco Queen.

As well as white-suited Sebastian GeeBee, who owns the “Disco Inferno” club and is one of the famed GeeBee brothers, also trying to retrieve his disco glory.

These crazy characters boogie their way onto the dance floor, singing great hits from the disco era, and each vying for attention until one of the Disco Divas end up DEAD.

A fun show filled with enough live singing and music, that it is guaranteed to help you get down AND get your groove on.
