

Welcome to O'Malley's Irish Pub, where the owner, Jack O'Malley, is preparing for the St. Patrick's Festivities.

He will have a lot to celebrate if Patty O'Furniture buys his pub for an obscenely high price.

But Jack is missing one essential part of the sale, which requires the assistance of research scientist Sheldon Pending.

Could it be that Sam, the handsome bartender, or Toni, the bubble-headed waitress, has what Jack needs?

When Jack ends up poisoned by his own beer, faith and begora, it's up to a clever detective AND the audience to track down the killer.

